

Decision On Meat Control

Will Be Broadcast By Truman Over All National Networks Monday Night

By Douglas B. Cornell

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—(P)—President Truman tonight prepared a decision on the meat control question for broadcast to the nation Monday night while the GOP commented "better late than never."

Mr. Truman will deliver his solution to the meat-hungry voters in a broadcast at 10 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time) Monday over all networks.

Scarcely had this been disclosed when Carroll Reece, Republican National chairman, issued a statement that "it will not suffice to pull a political rabbit out of the hat. One rabbit is rather scanty diet for 140,000,000 people."

"Mr. Truman has in the past demonstrated an ability to do the right thing too late," Reece continued.

"It is, however, to be hoped that in attempts to solve this problem Mr. Truman and his administration will approach it from the viewpoint of what is best from the long-range view point. To provide a feast now at the expense of an inevitable famine later would be an exhibition of cheap politics which would inevitably be repudiated by the American people."

High School Diploma Given In Hospital

Warsaw Young Man First To Receive One At Wadsworth

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Oct. 12—(P)—Glen D. Inloes, 20, of Warsaw, Mo., convalescing from a critical polio illness, today became the first patient to receive a high school diploma at the nearby Wadsworth veterans hospital.

The certificate was presented at a brief ceremony in Inloes' room. Present were Manager William G. Stephens, Dr. Willis E. Manney, chief medical officer, and James N. Burrows, chief of the educational retraining service at the hospital.

Inloes' condition was serious and an iron lung was needed when he was received at the hospital September 4. Manager Stephens telegraphed Washington. Soon a respirator was obtained at a Veterans Administration hospital at Dallas, Tex., and placed aboard an army air transport command plane.

In a few hours, the young veteran was encased in the lung. His recovery has been gradual and he now is able to be up in a wheelchair.

Nolan Twyman 17, Fatally Hurt Saturday

Was Passenger In Car That Skidded And Turned Over

Harry Nolan Twyman, Jr., 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold N. Twyman, Sr. R. P. D. No. 1, six miles south of Sedalia, was instantly killed about 7 o'clock Saturday morning, when the car in which he was riding as a passenger driven by Orville Kincaid, 19, 1323 East Fourth street, overturned on the Ingram-Water Works blacktop road, about a mile south of Flat Creek bridge.

Kincaid stayed at the home of Twyman Friday night and they were enroute to Sedalia to go to work, Twyman at the Calvert Coal Co., and Kincaid with the Central News Agency. The boys had left the Twyman home about 6:45 o'clock, according to Twyman's parents, and were about two miles from the home when the accident occurred.

It happened on the curve near the old G. E. Heck farm. They had already made one corner, just west, and were starting around the second curve when the car skidded sideways. Twyman, it appeared, was thrown out of the car and it rolled over and crushed his head. Kincaid, was not seriously injured but suffered from shock and a cut lip and mouth.

Skull Was Fractured
Twyman suffered a fractured skull, and a fracture of both bones in the right arm between the elbow and wrist.

The top of the 1930 Pontiac coach, was smashed in on the front, and the top of the body practically demolished.

Dr. Kenneth Holdren, coroner, was called and after viewing the body stated an inquest was not necessary. He also questioned Kincaid at the Bothwell hospital where Kincaid was taken by a passing motorist.

Kincaid told Dr. Holdren he was driving between 30 and 35 miles

The charges cover an alleged assault against Mrs. Long, the officer's wife, attempted burglary of the apartment and a gun fight between Brown and Long. The officer shot Brown in the neck and severely wounded him.

Police Chief Lyle Witty said Brown told him he had escaped from a prison farm at Algoa, Mo., where he was serving a two-year sentence for car theft.

Diplomats And Dignitaries Make Own Bed

Strike Strangles Service At Top Hotels In Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—(P)—Life became more rugged tonight for diplomats and dignitaries living in the capital's 18 hotels where a spreading strike has strangled service—long distance telephone calls were curtailed and sold showers are in prospect.

The walkout of service employees already has forced guests to make their own beds, seek meals elsewhere and forego regular elevator service. Boiler rooms are due to shut down, cutting off heat and hot water.

Union telephone operators, at the direction of union officials, halted incoming and outgoing long distance calls through hotel switchboards. Guests thus were unable to receive incoming out-of-town calls but by dialing long distance operators could place calls.

Deplores Action

The action was ordered by Mrs. Mary Gannon, president of the Telephone Operators' Union.

A spokesman for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company said he "deplored" the action and that it was contrary to company instructions.

Hundreds of visitors seeking rooms were turned away, even when they had reservations.

A brother and cousin of President Truman, titled visitors from abroad, cabinet officers and supreme court justices found it as futile as 10,000 other hotel guests to pick up a phone and ask for a bell hop.

Supervisors and clerks tried to provide makeshift service on switchboards and elevators. But dining rooms and bars were dark. "Closed" signs hung on doors. Pickets paraded outside.

5,000 Strike
Some 5,000 service employees struck yesterday for higher pay. They belong to AFL unions. And today boiler tenders were shutting down engine rooms. Their union, also AFL, called their men all the job by midnight, cutting off heat, hot water and air conditioning.

The unions originally had demanded a raise of 15 cents an hour for all workers who get no tips and 10 cents for those who do. The hotels offered 5 and 2½ cents. Labor department conciliators suggested a compromise on 8 and 4 cents. The unions agreed but the hotels rejected it, contending it would cost them $1,000,000 a year. No negotiations were scheduled today.

Union officials said basic wages now paid by the hotels are: Kitchen employees, 51 cents an hour for 48 hours; maids, 55 cents; elevator operators, $28.30 weekly.

Trumans At Statter
President Truman's brother, Vivian, and his cousin, Maj. Gen. Ralph E. Truman, are registered at the Statter. So are Countess Waldeck of Belgium and Baroness Van Phanhuysen of the Netherlands.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and Chief Justice Vinson live at the Wardman Park. Pickets withdrew their lines there to allow Schwellenbach to pass.

Former Secretary of Commerce Wallace, staunch friend of labor, has a suite at the Wardman Park. A wedding eve dinner in honor of his daughter, Jean, and members of the wedding party was shifted last night to a restaurant.

Brewers On Strike Too
The Wallaces went ahead, however, with plans for a reception in their apartment after the ceremony, they already had the food on hand for that, and the family cook, Agnes, to get it ready.

Senator Guffy (D-Pa) said he had been invited to the reception but refused to go through a picket line to attend.

And to make things worse, Washington had virtually no weekend beer. Employees of brewers and distributors were on strike, too.

Memorial Committee Meets This Afternoon

Judge J. V. Kesterson has announced a meeting for Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the county court room of the Memorial committee composed of representatives of the city's patriotic organizations.

The meeting is for the purpose of hearing a report of a sub-committee which has been negotiating for the purchase of equipment to contain an honor roll of this county's veterans of World War II. The honor roll will be placed in the court house and will be of a permanent nature, taking the place of the signboard which occupied a place on the court house lawn and which was erected by the American Legion.

Any person interested in the matter is welcome to attend the meeting.

Vinegar Joe Stilwell Is Dead

Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, Commander of the Sixth Army, who recoiled from a "hell of a beating" in Burma, died Saturday of a liver ailment at Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco.

General Stilwell Is Dead

Death Came Quietly To "Vinegar Joe"; Expressed Wish For No Funeral Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12—(P)—General Joseph W. Stilwell, 63, commander of the Sixth army affectionately known as "Vinegar Joe" by his former American and Chinese command in Burma, died today in his sleep of a liver ailment believed contracted in the jungle.

Officials of Letterman General Hospital, which General Stilwell entered Sept. 27 for a check-up, announced that death came quietly to the veteran campaigner at 12:48 p. m. (PST). At his bedside was his army physician, Col. Leonard D. Heaton. One of his two sons, Col. Joseph W. Jr., was just outside the room.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12—(P)—"Vinegar Joe" was a nickname General Joseph W. Stilwell picked up in 1924 when he was an instructor in the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga.

An officer who received a stern reprimand from Stilwell relieved his feelings by making a sketch which he pinned on the classroom blackboard.

The drawing showed a jug on which a four-faced Stilwell was pictured. Below the face were three x's and the word "Vinegar."

When Stilwell entered the classroom and saw the picture he was so highly amused and pleased he asked to keep the sketch.

Immediately following his death, it was revealed that General Stilwell expressed a wish that there be no funeral services—that he be cremated and his ashes spread from an airplane over the Pacific near his home in Carmel, Calif. No date for the rite was announced.

Death To Cancer of Liver
Death was attributed to Adenocarcinoma (cancer) of the liver, which was discovered during the treatment of an Amoebic abscess of the liver.

The victory general had an operation Oct. 3 for a liver ailment believed contracted in the Burma jungles. His condition became critical Oct. 9, and he grew progressively weaker.

Death came at 12:48 (PST) at Letterman General Hospital on the grounds of his Sixth army headquarters here.

Stilwell rarely wore decorations, but the army gave him on his death bed the one he had said he most coveted.

It was the combat infantryman's badge, which is awarded only for extended fighting at the front against the enemy.

The leather commander, who had repeatedly exposed himself in combat, had told his soldiers the medal was one of the army's highest honors. Stilwell received it yesterday. He already had the distinguished service cross, the distinguished service medal with cluster and legion of merit.

Stilwell
The hard-bitten fighter, characterized by candor and known to his troops as "Vinegar Joe" and "Uncle Joe," said after the Japanese drove his combined Allied forces out of Burma in 1942:

"I claim we got a hell of a beating."

The beating was inflicted with Stilwell in the front line. He was at the end of what General George C. Marshall termed "the thinnest supply line of all."

Stilwell served as chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, directing Chinese offensives against the Japanese until October, 1944, when major disagreements between Chiang and the American general became apparent, the principal contention was over the uses to which the Chinese were putting American war equipment.

Then the war department recalled the battling veteran of China and placed him in the Pentagon building in Washington as commander of the U. S. army ground forces.

Desk Failed To Hold Him
His desk failed to hold him long. Stilwell was touring Pacific battlefront when Lt. Gen. Simon B. Buckner, Jr., was killed in action. Succeeding Buckner as commander of the Tenth army June 21, 1945, Stilwell drove his forces to quick completion of the Okinawa campaign.

On August 31, 1945, he accepted the surrender of the Ryukyus Islands from the Japanese.

The general's widow is the former Mildred Alison Smith of Syracuse, N. Y. The surviving members of the family include his sons, Col. Stilwell, liaison officer to the Canadian army at Edmonton, Alberta, and Benjamin W., student at Stanford university; three daughters, Mrs. E. F. Easterbrook of Fort Benning, Ga.; Mrs. William E. Cox of San Francisco and Miss Alison Stilwell of San Francisco; a brother, John, of Ardenwald, N. Y., and a sister, Mrs. Stuart Wilder of Newton, Conn.

Ship Crashes And Burns In Delaware

NEW CASTLE, Del., Oct. 12—(P)—Trans-World Airlines reported tonight that a Constellation type ship had crashed and burned near here.

None of the crew was injured, TWA officials reported.

"The plane was on a ferry flight from La Guardia Field in New York and crashed when it overshot the field while landing at the New Castle Airbase," a TWA spokesman said. "There were no passengers aboard, only crew members."

Delaware hospital at Wilmington reported Charles A. Sylvester, 37, of Wilmington, was brought there and treated for shock and cuts and abrasions.

Crashed Into Car
An attendant quoted Sylvester as saying he was driving along a highway when the large plane crashed into his automobile.

Sylvester appeared dazed but was sent home after treatment, the hospital reported.

Joseph Murphy, owner of the Hickory House, a restaurant adjacent to the airbase, said the plane burst into flames after it struck the auto.

"We heard the crash in the restaurant and all of my waiters and waitresses went to the scene," Murphy said.

"The flames were so intense that we were driven back but we saw about seven fellows, all members of the crew, standing back a-ways. How they got out of the plane is beyond me."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—(P)—Hey Kiddies! Guess what? Santa Claus is bringing this Christmas! For good little girls, he's going to have some new dolls which can laugh, as well as cry or to sleep.

And there will be toy irons and cook stoves that run on real electric current, just like mother's do, and an enameled sink with running water.

And of course there will be lots of games, blackboards, doll houses and things.

Some lucky boys will get mechanical shovels which lift real dirt, and trucks, road scrapers, earth haulers and concrete mixers built to scale. There also will be workable telephone sets, and new stream-lined trains, velocipedes and airplanes.

Wallace To Edit Magazine

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—(P)—Henry A. Wallace, fired from President Truman's cabinet for his foreign policy views, accepted today the editorship of the New Republic, a weekly magazine in which he can express them as he pleases.

His appointment is effective in December. Wallace said it will not interfere with his plans for a Democratic campaign tour.

The ousted secretary of commerce said in a statement issued through the Washington office of the magazine:

"I shall have the opportunity of saying exactly what I think at a time when a bi-partisan bloc mounting the phrase 'One World' is really driving the world into two armed camps."

"As editor of the New Republic, I shall do everything I can to arouse the American people, the British people, the French people, and, in fact, the liberally-minded people of the whole world to the need of stopping this dangerous armament race."

He was struck by a car driven by John T. Collier, 1025 Linwood St. Paul, Minn.

Mr. Lueschen was taken to the Bothwell hospital where Dr. John B. Carlisle treated two lacerations on his head, one a two inch laceration on the back of the head and one, one inch cut over the left eye. He was later released from the hospital.

Police made an investigation. No arrest was made.

November 5 for steaks and chops if they know they will be able to get only horse meat to eat in January or February."

In announcing the arrangements, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman will discuss meat as part of "the stabilization program."

That generated new speculation on how far the chief executive might be willing to go in adjusting the administration's line against inflation to get rib roast back onto dinner tables—and nudge Democratic candidates off political hot-spots.

The decision was the president's alone. His advisers had laid before him their arguments for one line of action or another. The problem had been threshed over thoroughly in cabinet and other high-level conferences.

Truman Gave Day To Matter
Today Mr. Truman weighed the case for and against complete control, modified control, or no control. He worked all day in his study with no outside callers.

Price Administrator Paul Porter, who said last Saturday the choice was between steaks and stabilization, was silent on the meat question in his weekly broadcast today. He discussed housing.

One thing appeared certain—that Mr. Truman would announce some kind of action and not commit himself to mere discussions of the scarcity of meat and the dangers of inflation.

Whether the schedule of the speech meant that Mr. Truman had made up his mind on the meat problem, Ross would not say. He told reporters the president would speak for about 15 minutes "on the stabilization program."

"Does that mean meat?" a newsman asked.

Comment on Movie Tax Headline News—

As a result of the Kansas City paper's review of Sedalia's moving picture moratorium, our town has hit the national headlines because the story, in part, was picked up and sent broadcast by the Associated Press.

The story would indicate to the average reader that the stalemate between the mayor, council and theatre managements would persist interminably, that the citizens are taking no sides, that not much is being done by the folks at home to settle the issue and hasten re-opening of the theatres, closed now the past eight weeks.

In truth, however, there have been a dozen or more conferences held in recent weeks by citizens either with the mayor or with representatives of the theatre management in an effort to find some solution to the problem which would be acceptable to both parties to the controversy. This much can be said for the talks—both the mayor and the managers are willing to resume discussions together.

Such a meeting has been arranged and scheduled for Monday night.

This does not mean a solution will be reached immediately, but it is a heartening sign of progress in the negotiations.

Crux of the motion picture deadlock is this:

Closing of the theatres was a device of the managements to protest an ordinance passed by City Council last August levying against the picture shows a license tax of 5% on the gross receipts of their businesses.

Formerly the theatres paid an annual occupational tax of $100 each. The new tax on gross receipts could run as high as $6,000.00 or $7,000.00 a year for each theatre, depending of course on the amount of gross business. If the gross receipts were more the theatres would pay more, if receipts were less, the theatres would pay less. But even with a reduced attendance annually the tax would hardly run less than $3,000.00 to $4,000.00 per year for each of the three theatres.

Theatre managers have declared they are willing to pay a higher occupational tax, perhaps as high as $500.00, but that three, four or five thousand dollars is exorbitant, inequitable and unjust. They also object to Sedalia theatres being the guinea pig experiment leading to the spread to many cities elsewhere of the gross receipts method of taxation; whereas there are many other acceptable taxation methods based on seating capacity, price of admission, combinations of the two maintaining the present method at a higher level, etc.

Generally speaking, the gross receipts method as sponsored in the new theatre ordinance is unpopular, especially among owners and operators of other lines of business who fear they may be the next to be confronted with such a taxing method.

The theatre owners object to the assertion they are opposing the new tax ordinance to show anyone they are bigger than the city government. Acknowledging that any city government may need more funds because of increased operational costs, increased needs for improvements, the theatre managers protest such a situation does not justify having them singled out to pay the biggest part of the payroll.

There is not a bit of doubt that Sedalia requires more money to keep its city government functioning. And this is the premise upon which the mayor and city council have set about finding ways and means to obtain the necessary revenue. A new city tax on cigarettes is one of the recent developments aimed at solving this monetary need.

Mayor Bagby points out that his administration is in charge of a $16,000,000 corporation—the City of Sedalia. His analysis of the taxing structure shows that 42.6 cents out of every tax dollar comes from real estate and personal property levies. This, he says, is out of balance when one considers model city comparisons wherein 33 1/3 cents of a tax dollar comes from real estate and personal property.

Furthermore, the mayor, in his discussions with those interested in the new movie tax, has repeatedly called attention to the fact that last year's city budget was almost $217,000, yet the city spent $247,000. The current year's budget is $375,000. This explains the necessary increase of the levy on real estate from 65 cents to $1 on the $100 valuation, the new cigarette tax, and the need of additional money from tax sources such as the moving picture theatres.

In his interviews with Sedalians and with a reporter for the Kansas City Times the mayor reiterated that in the current year the city plans to institute a garbage collection and disposal system. $28,000 for equipment and $10,000 in wages will be required. Salary increases for 80 city employees will require another $18,000; $11,000 for repairs to public buildings; $25,000 for resurfacing streets; $9,000 for new fire equipment; $6,000 for new parks and playground equipment.

"Where is the money coming from?" Mayor Bagby asks. "From those sources best able to pay. You can't keep putting the load on real estate. It's already out of balance."

Briefly, the above is a composite word picture of what the movie tax controversy is all about.

Whether the average adult or teen-ager understands it or not the fact remains the citizens are considerably burned up about the lack of moving picture entertainment. Parents don't like the idea of their children traveling the highways at night going to neighboring towns to see the movies there.

While the polio scare was on, not much pressure was evident about opening the movies, but since fear of spreading the disease has diminished the public is beginning more and more to show its aggravation over being denied local entertainment in the movie houses.

If the issue is not settled soon public opinion may turn against both the city administration and the theatre managements. What course such an expression may take remains to be seen, but in some manner or other Sedalia is going to have movies.

It is likely neither the city administration or the theatre managements realized at the outset that the tax controversy would reach the stage it has. Now both sides have "bowed their necks," is the current expression, neither side willing to give way for fear of "losing face."

The public is not interested in either side preserving their faces to make faces at each other.

"All right, what's your personal opinion about approaching a solution to the impasse?" observes a taxpayer to the editor.

Personally I don't feel it will be any reflection on the city council to rescind the present gross revenue tax ordinance and then resume further consideration of a half dozen other theatre taxing methods more equitable in their application. I have not yet been sold on the gross revenue tax. It is distinctly unpopular and I have heard of little support for it locally in many, many conversations with taxpayers. And this does not mean I am waving the flag in support of the movie interests.

I think the whole thing got off to a bad start last August and it's about time to junk the present ordinance and start all over again. And if this is done, then the public should give the council a big hand and give the administration generous encouragement for having the stamina to take the initiative and break down the elements that make the present controversy so difficult of solution.

ELECTRICITY IS CHEAP IN OUR TOWN

LOOK WHAT THE "LIGHT BILL" PAYS FOR NOW!

Your light bill is probably lower than it was many years ago, but look what it covers today: It runs your refrigerator, laundry equipment and radio as well as many other appliances. It lights your home better than ever before. It heats your water and starts your automatic furnace. Yet your "light bill" is less today... it's truly the biggest value of this modern age.

Prize Winning Fire Week Poster

National Fire Prevention Week poster by Charles Markman of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts awarded first place and $150 prize in a city wide contest sponsored by Albert J. Jr., president of the Pick Hotels Corporation, Chicago. Employee Helen Brooks is admiring the poster. The Bothwell hotel in Sedalia is operated by the Pick Hotel Corporation.

Teen Town Notes

The drive for funds received a boost the past week upon receiving a $100.00 check from the Sedalia City Council, headed by Mayor Bagby. This is the same amount that was received from the City Council last year, and is very much appreciated. The students have shown considerable interest in names and amounts of those who have contributed to the support of Teen Town. These names are posted on the Teen Town Bulletin Board, and the names are added from time to time as the various workers report. On Friday the drive had received $1523.80 with an additional $135.00 in pledges. Four solid citizens of the 40 working on the drive have still to make their report. Most of them are trying to complete their call backs before turning in their reports.

Last week letters were mailed to those who had been when the solicitors called and good results are being reported, some are mailing in their contributions and others are calling for workers to stop by to pick up their checks.

Students of Smith-Cotton and Sacred Heart will work this week in contacting the parents of teenagers who were not contacted by workers in the business district. Contributions for the most part have been generous and the persons contacted were interested.

PTA Help
The Smith-Cotton High School P. T. A. pledged their usual $50.00 to Teen Town at the first meeting in October, under the leadership of E. L. Ellsworth president of the P. T. A. of Smith-Cotton. Other P. T. A. units in the city contribute smaller amounts each spring or fall from $5.00 to $20.00.

William Igenfritz, owner of the building, is the only monthly contributor. Mr. Igenfritz gives $5.00 each month to the club. It is believed if the parents will send in from $1.00 to $5.00 the goal of $2400 will be over subscribed by the weekend. However the parents who have already sent their contributions are not expected to send in again. Several who have given small amounts, not realizing that the drive was for, after reading and hearing more about it, sent in additional donations. The T. E. B. W. local 844 at the Missouri Pacific Shops, expressed interest by giving Mr. Ellsworth their check for $5.00 for the drive.

Mr. Ellsworth is a member of the Teen Town Adult Board. The Temple Beth El Sisterhood gave a check for $10.00 to Mrs. Sam Raskin to turn in on the drive.

Undergoes Operation
Mrs. J. T. Evans, Dresden, underwent a major operation at the Bothwell hospital, Saturday. Her condition was reported as being much improved.

CMSTC Head To Address Women's Club

Guest speaker at Sorosis Monday afternoon, President George W. Diemer of the Central Missouri State Teachers College of Warrensburg, Missouri, has only recently returned from Japan, where he spent six weeks in an intensive study of conditions there, stressing particularly educational aspects.

Formerly of Kansas City, President Diemer was president of the Central Missouri State Teachers College. A school man all his life, Mr. Diemer began his career as a rural school teacher, and soon went into school administrative work in north Missouri schools before going to Kansas City. In recognition of his educational services he was selected to "Who's Who in America and in American Education." He has served on numerous educational committees, often as chairman.

In the term just past he was at the head of the accrediting committee of the American Association of Teachers Colleges and now heads the education committee of the Missouri State Council of Defense; and was on the administrative committee of the recent Rural Life and Education Survey of Missouri.

He received his formal education in primary and secondary schools of Missouri, the state teachers colleges at Kirksville and Warrensburg; at Missouri and Colorado universities, and at Columbia University. An author of many professional articles, Mr. Diemer is affiliated with some dozen professional, civic, and fraternal organizations.

At the request of General Douglas MacArthur the departments of War and State recently arranged a mission, whose purpose was to recommend measures that would insure the democratization of Japanese education, working with the Japanese Ministry of Education and Japanese educators. This mission included 27 of the foremost educators of the United States, composing four committees, Mr. Diemer being chairman of the Teacher Education and Methodology Committee.

A nearby resident had seen the flames and turned in an alarm.

Break Ground For New Building

Top: Personnel of the Midwest Auto Stores in Sedalia see the first shovel of dirt removed for construction of a new warehouse and office building for the company, at Sixth street and Hancock avenue. The picture was taken Thursday. In the group, left to right, are: Fred W. Brink, secretary and treasurer; Harriet Turley, stock inventory; Gayl Ryan, bookkeeper; E. L. Sievers, contractor; Fred Schlapper, purchasing agent; Paul F. Hausam, president and general manager; Forrest Alcorn, warehouse foreman; Margaret Ferguson, competitor and varityper; Ruth Campbell, stenographer; Clyde Waters, shipping clerk. Below is shown a drawing of the new building as it will appear.

Work was started Thursday, clearing ground at Sixth street and Hancock avenue for a new warehouse and office for Midwest Auto Stores, to replace their present operation in the three story building owned by them at 321 East Main street, which they have outgrown. Paul F. Hausam, the president and general manager, turned the first shovelful for the new building as the various warehouse and office executives and employees looked on.

The new building is to be constructed of haydite blocks with brick exterior, and in keeping with the company's plan to streamline their operation, it will be a one-story building tailored to the needs of modern warehousing. Floor area of 20,000 square feet will be available in the new building compared to 7,200 square feet in their old location. All operations will be on the ground level thereby eliminating elevators, and loading docks will be at truck bed height which will save much heavy lifting. The company's own trailer will have an inside loading dock half way back on the north side of the building. The new building will be well lighted as it will have about 80 windows and fluorescent lights throughout.

Bought Railroad Land
Midwest Auto Stores has purchased 72,000 square feet of land from the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad and a spur will be laid to the rear of their building as many items are purchased in carload lots. The land area utilized by the new building will be only half of the area purchased so plenty of space will remain for future expansion.

A modern suite of office covering 64 feet by 32 feet will provide for the executive part of Midwest Auto Stores function.

Mr. Hausam announced that plans are being completed for the opening of new Midwest Auto Stores in Warrensburg and Chanute, Kansas. Other outlets will be opened as fast as the availability of merchandise will permit.

E. L. Sievers, local contractor, has been engaged to construct the building. Construction has been authorized by the Civilian Production Administration and is proceeding at once as all materials have been procured.

Wayne Pritchard, 16, Green Ridge, was arrested for careless and reckless driving and was released on a $25 cash bond to appear in police court Monday morning.

Pritchard was driving a 1931 Ford coach and headed east on Broadway and was making a left hand turn on to Ohio when the accident occurred. The other car, a 1941 Hudson sedan, was driven by Carl E. Pierce, 29, of Kansas City, and was going west on Broadway.

Both drivers were arrested on a charge of careless and reckless driving and posted bonds of $50 each to appear in police court Monday.

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 12—(AP)—Mrs. Lena M. Steinhouser arrived here Friday after a 600-mile bus trip from Casper, Wyo., to adjust a $1 traffic ticket.

Earlier this week she telephoned Tulsa police to explain that she no longer owned an automobile tagged for parking violation and for which a citation was mailed to her. Police told her "to forget it," said the call cost her $2.50.

Her attorney said Mrs. Steinhouser, a former resident here, made the long trip expressly to untangle the affair because she feared she might become involved if her former car were in an accident.

Harry A. Stark, Parsons, Kansas, charged with burglary in connection with breaking into the Sullivan Grocery on South Kentucky avenue, waived a preliminary hearing before Magistrate W. E. Scotten, ex-officio justice of the peace, and was bound over to the October term of criminal court.

He was placed in the county jail in default of a $1,500 bond.

THE STORY: Gayle, daughter of a college professor, has just become engaged to handsome Bruce Bartlett, famous athlete and scion of wealth. Visiting his home and parents for the first time, she is frightened by the splendor in which they live. Although Mrs. Bartlett greets her kindly, Gayle feels that she can never be happy amid such extreme luxury. She looks forward with dread to meeting the invalid Mr. Bartlett.

VII
GAYLE had a blurred impression of many windows, brilliant sunlight and of foliage and flowers. But Van Dyke Bartlett she saw clearly, and almost instantly her fear dissolved into pity. He looked very old, infinitely tired, and pathetically frail. His white hair was hardly whiter than his cheeks, and even his brown eyes behind his spectacles seemed to have faded. He was half lying, half sitting in a wheelchair. A nurse in a white starched uniform rose as soon as Gayle appeared and vanished through a door in the rear of the conservatory.

Gayle walked close to Mr. Bartlett and looked down at him. He held out his wrinkled right hand, and she took it in hers.

"Forgive me if I stare," he said. "I know I'm cruel, but I want to look a long time."

"It's all right," Gayle assured him. "I was scared a minute ago, but I'm not now. Bart said no one could be afraid of his father, and now I know what he meant."

"Thank you, my dear. That's a compliment I'll treasure. This must be very hard for you," he released her hand. "Sit down. I can look just as well if you're comfortable."

When she had selected a chair, he touched the bell at his side. "I find I can't."

Almost instantly the nurse appeared.

"Will you lift me up a little, Miss Wallace?" Mr. Bartlett asked. "I want to be able to look at Miss Kent in comfort. Miss Wallace," he said to Gayle, "is the kindest of nurses, and," he added, looking upward, "Miss Kent is my son's fiancée. I suppose you've heard."

"Of course," the nurse said, smiling to Gayle in acknowledgment of the introduction. "The house is ringing with the news," Gayle laughed. "And I thought it was a secret until next week."

"Bruce has no secrets," said his father. "He was home one day last week. That was enough. Thank you," he said to the nurse. "That's fine."

THE nurse smiled at Gayle again, and again vanished.

"Now," Mr. Bartlett said, "we can talk. And may I say my first impression makes me very happy?"

"You may, indeed," Gayle replied, laughing and blushing in her embarrassment. "I expected to be looked over, of course, but I didn't know it would be quite such an ordeal. My only comfort is that Bart will have to go through it next week."

"He won't suffer a bit. He has no nerves. He's always relaxed. A coach told me once that that was the secret of Bruce's athletic success."

"It's so strange," said Gayle, "to hear him called Bruce. All his New Haven friends call him Bart."

"I don't think anyone calls him Bruce away from here. You must feel we're talking about a stranger."

"In a way, I do. It gives me an uneasy feeling. I suppose that's silly, but I think of him as Bart."

"I don't think it's silly," he smiled at her unexpectedly. "I do like what I see. Forgive me for being so personal, but Bruce's engagement is a very personal matter to me—and I'd worried about the girl he might marry. You're my kind of girl. I can see that at once. Everything about you makes me happy, even your pink fingernails. I have a horror of red ones."

"Just like my father. He's a New Englander and a professor. I don't know which he hates more, scarlet fingernails or heavy lipstick. I come from an old-fashioned family, Mr. Bartlett, and I suppose I'm old-fashioned too."

"No; no, you're not," he contradicted quickly. "I've seen no girl with more style, and I'm glad you have it. I've never had any, but my wife has always had it, and so has Bruce—in a man's way, of course. I'm afraid a girl without style would find it hard to come into this family."

"You make me feel so comfortable," Gayle told him earnestly. "This great house frightened me. We're simple people, and I hadn't expected so much grandeur—but somehow you make it unimportant." She smiled at him. "You don't frighten me any more than my father does."

"I'll tell you why, my dear. The grandeur is unimportant to me. It took me years to find that out, but eventually I did." He looked past Gayle to the doorway behind her. "Good morning, young man."

"Good morning," said Bart. "Hi, Gayle. You must have been up with the birds." He bent to kiss her and smiled at his father. "Isn't she perfect?"

"An embarrassing question," his father replied, "and it's fortunate I can agree with you honestly. Otherwise I might have one of my attacks. I'm afraid I must send you away now. If I don't, Miss Wallace will. But if tomorrow is sunny and I am well enough, will you sit with me for a while in the garden—not you, Bruce, just Gayle?"

Gayle stood up. His request moved her. It was almost a plea. "It's a date," she said, "and nothing can break it. What time?"

"Ten o'clock. It ought to be warm enough by then."

Feeling strangely sure of herself, Gayle bent and kissed his cheek. He caught her hand and held it. "Thank you, my dear. Thank you. You're going to be really my daughter."

The Daily Washington Merry-go-Round

WASHINGTON—Harry Truman has received a lot of criticism for not surrounding himself with higher type men in the White House. One reason of course is that Truman is genuinely fond of the poker-playing, joke-telling Missourians and Mississippians who are around him.

On the other hand, few except those on the inside know how hard Truman has tried to get others to join his staff. He begged Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., to become assistant secretary of the navy. He urged Bob Nathan, former brain trust for the war production board to become an economic adviser.

One of his most significant talks was with Isador Lubin, a White House secretary under Roosevelt. The talk indicates that Truman at times feels a sense of genuine loneliness.

"I just can't afford to come back to work for you," Lubin gave as his excuse, when the President first invited him to return. "My daughter is growing up and my expenses are increasing. I just can't live on a government salary."

The President countered by saying that perhaps he could find means of meeting Lubin's financial requirements. This had Lubin stumped, and he hesitated. Actually, he had other reasons for not wanting to come back, but he didn't want to hurt Truman's feelings by saying so. Finally, he blurted:

"Well, Mr. President, there's something I sort of miss around here."

"You mean," suggested the President, "that you miss Roosevelt?"

"Yes," replied Lubin.

"Well, I miss him, too," said Truman. From the tone of his voice you could tell that he very much meant it.

Argentin Meat

Most people have forgotten it, but the late President Roosevelt got into quite a controversy in 1939 over the relative merits of Argentine and American beef. Many people at that time said he was casting reflection on the honor of the American cow and claimed he had committed such a political blunder that he couldn't expect to be re-elected.

At that time, the idea of importing Argentine meat was pure political dynamite, much more so than today, when the public is clamoring for meat. At that time there was ample meat in the USA, but despite that fact, Roosevelt ordered the U. S. Navy to purchase a mere dribble of 21 tons of Argentine canned beef.

Immediately there was a hue and cry from western cattlemen. They even went so far as to introduce an amendment to the naval appropriations bill whereby the navy would be required to buy only American meat.

Roosevelt, however, stood his ground, even stated publicly that Argentine canned beef was better than American beef.

Under an agricultural department ruling, Argentine fresh or frozen beef cannot be imported into the United States because of hoof and mouth disease. However, canned beef can be imported. So also can meat—largely mutton—from Patagonia, southernmost end of Argentina, which is disease free.

During the war the British bought up most of the Argentine meat supply on a lend-lease agreement with the USA, whereby part of the Argentine meat was used for the American army abroad. However, there is no reason why the British could not be induced to divide some of this meat now, especially in view of the fact that it was purchased with American money.

War Plants for a Song

The big boys operate so smoothly in Washington that the public seldom knows what's going on until it is called on to foot the bill. One operation that ought to be watched is the tug of war by the big steel companies to take over the government's new modern steel plant in South Chicago now operated by Tom Girdler's Republic Steel.

Built by Uncle Sam for war purposes, the South Chicago mill cost the taxpayers around $90,000,000. It is one of the most streamlined in the country. The question now is, who will get this industrial windfall?

After the last war, government factories were sold for a song to the private companies which operated them, and, some years later, the army and navy found themselves needing increased armaments, with few munitions plants at their disposal. At one time in May and June of 1940, even after France fell, some of the big industrialists deliberately stalled on armaments until the treasury promised them a tax bonanza on the depreciation of new war plants.

As a result, some army-navy men hope that all of Uncle Sam's war plants will not again be turned over to private industry for a song.

John, the war assets administrator, has different ideas. He wants to get surplus war property off his hands as quickly as possible—a policy which frequently plays into the hands of big business.

Tom Girdler Bids

Dovetailing with this policy, Republic Steel has offered to buy the government's South Chicago steel plant for $30,000,000, about one-third its original cost. Payments would be made over twenty years at $1,500,000 a year. No interest would be paid to the government.

Only bidder against Republic Steel so far is Henry Kaiser. Shut out of the steel market, Kaiser has decided the only way he can get steel for his automobiles is to make it himself. He has offered to rent the government's South Chicago plant at $2,000,000 a year for the first three years.

Kaiser contends that the government would be able to take the plant back in case of increased international tension, and that, in the interim, it will get more money from him than from Republic.

Most interesting thing to watch in this deal will be the influence of George Allen, RFC director and one of the closest men to President Truman. Allen is a director of Republic Steel, is also considered the messenger boy for Victor Emmanuel, who has an interest in Republic Steel. Thus company officials have a pipeline into the White House day or night.

On the other hand, Trust Busting Attorney General Tom Clark is charged with discouraging monopoly in the sale of war plants. So it will be interesting to see whether George Allen's friend, Tom Girdler, or the attorney general wins out.

Drug Cure at Lexington Is Thorough

Procedure Is Treatment Instead Of Punishment

By Kyle Vance

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 12.—(P)—Medical experts at the United States Public Health Service hospital here rate Barney Ross, former lightweight and welterweight boxing champion, a favorite in his bout with narcotics, most formidable of his many foes.

They say his courage, demonstrated by his quest of a cure, will give him a head start in his battle against the drug habit.

Ross went voluntarily to the big federal institution, taking his place with 1,200 other patients, some sent there by the courts and others, like himself, seeking refuge from the powdered pleasure that wrecks the human nervous system.

Dr. Victor M. Vogel, medical officer in charge of the hospital, says the period required for a cure depends largely on the patient's physical condition, which in turn depends somewhat on how long he has indulged in the use of drugs and the amount of narcotics taken.

Should Stay Months

In the case of boxer Ross, six months of rest, confinement, medical attention and physical rebuilding should be the minimum time needed to shake the habit he contracted serving with the marines on Guadalcanal. Wounded in a spectacular nightlong machine-gun battle for which he received the Silver Star, Sgt. Ross later became ill from malaria and developed migraine headaches. Ross said he unintentionally became an addict in trying to soothe the terrible headaches.

Another advantage of the fighter's decision to come to Lexington rests in the thoroughness of the treatment. The hospital strives to remove the cause of addiction at the same time that it cures the habit. Twenty-two top notch specialists are maintained on the hospital staff for consultation on the various aspects of the causes of drug addiction.

Voluntary Patient
As a voluntary patient, Ross will be free to demand his release, and therein, Dr. Vogel believes, rests the biggest obstacle in his quest of the cure. Two many voluntary patients, when they begin feeling strong again, decide they are cured, the medical officer observed.

Narcotics produce a fleeting, sensational buzz which wears away after three or four hours and leaves the addict heckled by a new overwhelming desire to "re-fuel." He lives in constant fear over the source of his future doses.

All this is corrected at the Lexington hospital, a modern, compact institution surrounded by 1,000 acres of rolling bluegrass. It is a prison by nature, but the procedure is treatment instead of punishment.

The drug is taken from the addict as soon as his physical condition permits. He is given supporting drugs to alleviate the appetite. But the cure is based on physical rebuilding and elimination of the habit's cause.

Teach Some Skills
Since few of the addicts know a trade, the hospital is equipped to teach some skills. The big layout includes clothing and furniture factories, a dairy farm, laundry, bakery and some other activities operated by the patients.

In normal times, 85 addicts a year are processed through the institution. In a recent study of 8,000 cases, 61 per cent remained cured or successfully dosed the law, 29 per cent had to come back for a second "cure" and only 10 per cent returned three or more times.

The hospital is guarded and represents a prison for some, but escapes average only 15 per year. These almost always are recovered three or four miles from the institution. Only five escaped are at large today.

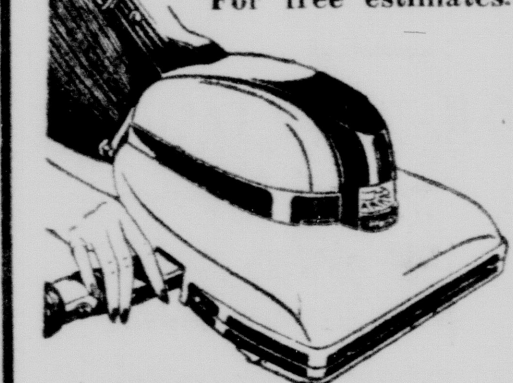

There is one encouraging phase of the narcotics picture. Dr. Vogel said World War II has not yet produced its expected epidemic of drug addicts as did the last war. The Ross case is a rare one.

Letter-Writing Week, Oct. 13-19

National Letter-Writing Week has become an annual event and will be observed October 13th to 19th this year, says Postmaster Edward P. Mullaley.

Everyone likes to receive a letter, but not everyone likes to write a letter. It's only a few steps to a letter box. Write a letter to your mother or father, to your sister, brother, sweetheart, loved ones. Write them a letter and give them the thrill you had when you received a letter from them.

Yes, someone is waiting for your letter. The welcome words, an acknowledgment of some request, a chatty report on the inconsequential but delightful things you like to talk about, that note of praise or a bit of information—all of these are yours to give at a little effort and expense in a letter.

We've all heard the time-worn apologies for failure to write. How often do we really have a good excuse? Generally, this disinclination to write a letter arises from our lack of realization of how much letters mean to others.

A letter is your best emissary. It is a created thing. You select its contents—news which, by its very personal nature, is exclusive. With a powerful disregard for literary laws you can make your letter a powerful bond. Certainly it should represent you and be worthy of you, but if you write as you would talk, your letter will arrive as a welcome event—like a personal visit.

Whatever your motive for writing—to send news, to express thanks, console the grief-stricken, find a job, give advice—your letter is the correct way. Unless you or your correspondent wishes it, no one reads or hears what you have to say. It is the most personal medium of communication.

Wherever and whoever you are, there is no need to keep anyone waiting for your letter. In these days of fast trucks, trains, ships and planes, your letter is whisked across town or continent with incredible speed and accuracy. Many thousands of people, working around the clock, are charged with the responsibility of guarding, dispatching and delivering your letters—all of this for the cost of a few pennies.

With the war receding into history, people remain about the same. They still want—and need letters.

Looking Backward Forty Years Ago

Sheriff I. N. Sprecher Saturday sold to E. T. Thomas his fine saddle mare, "Georgia Sprecher," for $500. The purchase was made for a man in New Mexico, and the animal will be shipped there.

R. D. McCubbin and John S. McGaw, delegates from St. Vincent de Paul Council No. 38, Knights of Father Matthew, left for Chicago Saturday night to attend the national convention of the order.

John H. Flannigan, of Carthage, Mo., known as "Fire Alarm" Flannigan, spoke at Smithton Saturday night in behalf of the republicans of Missouri.

William O. Powell, of Elk Fork township, and County Surveyor Harry Moss presented the Democrat with a box of pawpaws and persimmons, the first of the season.

Arthur I. Dow, a conductor on the Santa Fe railway at Raton, N. M., who has been visiting his father, Alexander Dow, and other Pettis countians, left for his home Saturday morning.

You Cannot Buy PAINTS and VARNISHES "On Approval"

Be sure your color combinations are what you want before you start to paint.

Ordinarily, when you buy paints and varnishes, you are buying what you cannot see. Despite your sense of color appreciation, it is a bit unfair to place the responsibility of color selection entirely upon your shoulders. Too often, impressions are entirely different and disappointing when the painting has been completed.

Unfortunately, paints and varnishes, once applied, cannot be "returned for a refund."

Loses Life At Rail Crossing

Fred Crane In Pickup Truck Is Struck By Train

VERSAILLES, Oct. 12—Fred Crane, aged 61, farmer of near Barnett, Mo., was fatally injured at 2:57 o'clock Friday afternoon when the Ford V-8 pickup truck he was driving was struck by a Rock Island passenger train at a crossing about three and a half miles northeast of here.

The train was in charge of Conductor H. N. Miller, of St. Louis, with J. E. McClennen, of Eldon, engineer. The engineer stated the whistle of the locomotive was sounded for the crossing and as the train drew nearer to it he saw the truck of Mr. Crane's approaching and shrill blasts of the whistle were sounded, he added. The truck moved onto the tracks and was practically demolished.

The body of Mr. Crane was taken to a funeral home at Eldon. Coroner B. L. Medicus, of Morgan county, stated an inquest would be unnecessary.

Mr. Crane was a lifelong resident of Morgan county and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Norman Thompson, of the home, and a son, Alcie Crane, of Plymouth, Ill., also by a grandson, 'Gene Crane.

Mr. Crane's wife died unexpectedly from a heart attack on October 18, 1945.

PHIL EVANS' work does not end with sundown. There are farm meetings to attend in and beyond the immediate vicinity of KMBC Service Farms. Many times in the year, he has long jaunts to make for active participation in national farm meetings. As head of the Agricultural Promotion Committee of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, there is time to be spent in important work. While Phil has valuable help from his assistants on the farm, it takes a thoroughly experienced farm expert such as him to make a radio station's farm service percolate on all 16. And Phil does just that!

And now, on to the "American Royal."

KNOW THE FACTS

Listening to the heart with a stethoscope is called auscultation; it reveals modified sounds and murmurs upon which the doctor tries to determine the condition of the heart. Dr. Sir James Mackenzie, a world known authority on the heart, stated in his book "Diagnoses of The Heart," in discussing auscultation says: "It has done more harm than good in that many people have had their lives altered, have been forbidden to undertake duties for which they were perfectly competent, and have been subjected to unnecessary treatment." This is not due to auscultation as such but as he says, "to the inability of the profession to assess the value of the phenomena which auscultation revealed."

Every doctor does the best he can in interpreting the sounds and is aware of its shortcomings and this is the reason why cardiographic examinations are frequently advised.

The cardiograph does not reveal all there is to be known about the heart but it does reveal information that could not be obtained without it. It shows in many cases that these abnormal heart sounds are of no great importance and that the heart is functioning efficiently. This is information which should be of great value to many, information which they should have. It is wise to have a Heart-ometer cardiograph made once a year and know the facts.

Farm Work — Plus

BEFORE GOING OUT into the field, running tractors or feeding the livestock, Phil works on scripts and answers the many letters received concerning a hundred different subjects that go with managing a developmental farm. He returns from the fields at noon and conducts direct from a studio on the farm two Dinner Bell programs — Feed Lot Chats at 12:20 and Produce, Poultry and Grain Markets at 12:30. This is in course in addition to packing in the groceries for more hard work on the farm during the afternoon.

PHIL EVANS' work does not end with sundown. There are farm meetings to attend in and beyond the immediate vicinity of KMBC Service Farms. Many times in the year, he has long jaunts to make for active participation in national farm meetings. As head of the Agricultural Promotion Committee of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, there is time to be spent in important work. While Phil has valuable help from his assistants on the farm, it takes a thoroughly experienced farm expert such as him to make a radio station's farm service percolate on all 16. And Phil does just that!

KNOW THE FACTS

Listening to the heart with a stethoscope is called auscultation; it reveals modified sounds and murmurs upon which the doctor tries to determine the condition of the heart. Dr. Sir James Mackenzie, a world known authority on the heart, stated in his book "Diagnoses of The Heart," in discussing auscultation says: "It has done more harm than good in that many people have had their lives altered, have been forbidden to undertake duties for which they were perfectly competent, and have been subjected to unnecessary treatment." This is not due to auscultation as such but as he says, "to the inability of the profession to assess the value of the phenomena which auscultation revealed."

Every doctor does the best he can in interpreting the sounds and is aware of its shortcomings and this is the reason why cardiographic examinations are frequently advised.

The cardiograph does not reveal all there is to be known about the heart but it does reveal information that could not be obtained without it. It shows in many cases that these abnormal heart sounds are of no great importance and that the heart is functioning efficiently. This is information which should be of great value to many, information which they should have. It is wise to have a Heart-ometer cardiograph made once a year and know the facts.

by Jim Carson

IF YOU THINK you've got plenty to do in a single day, consider for a moment a typical 24 hours with Phil Evans, director of farm service for KMBC and manager of the station's Service Farms. This is excluding such a special event as the "American Royal" which starts next week and finds Phil very much in the center of things.

Early To Rise

WHEN the alarm goes off at 5:30 a. m., Phil jumps (?) out of bed to prepare his 6:15 Farm Chats over KMBC. Keeping up on news happenings of the day is of foremost importance to a farm commentator, and Phil spends the next half - hour along with eating breakfast, going over the news reports with a fine tooth pick-fork. The rest of the time until 9 a. m. is then spent in planning the day's operation and inspecting the farm herds of livestock.

Farm Work — Plus

BEFORE GOING OUT into the field, running tractors or feeding the livestock, Phil works on scripts and answers the many letters received concerning a hundred different subjects that go with managing a developmental farm. He returns from the fields at noon and conducts direct from a studio on the farm two Dinner Bell programs — Feed Lot Chats at 12:20 and Produce, Poultry and Grain Markets at 12:30. This is in course in addition to packing in the groceries for more hard work on the farm during the afternoon.

Friendly Host

CONDUCTING a developmental farm cannot help but find hundreds of visitors in a month dropping by to inspect the operation. And anyone is cordially invited to do so! Phil makes you feel just as though he has all the time in the world to show you the operation. But along with playing good host, however, he spends his afternoons working and planning future projects. There is livestock to be sold, farm equipment to be repaired, putting up the hay, etc. But that is only the typical farmer's part of the story. One afternoon each week has to be given over to transcribing County Neighbor, KMBC's nighttime farm program (Friday, 7:30 p. m.), and another to putting "Livestock Health" on tape for playback Saturday at 12:25 p. m.

They will visit various other trees over town and will conclude the pilgrimage at the library where there are also several interesting specimens.

Circle No. 2 of the Sedalia Garden club met Friday at the home of Mrs. E. C. Thompson, 403 South Park avenue, with Mrs. A. W. Johns and Mrs. L. W. Satorius assisting. Cards Depend On Breechen For Today

Opposing "The Cat" Will Be Boo Ferris For Crucial Game

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—(P)—Snow flurries, the first of the season, fell at Alton, Ill., eight miles north of here today but the weatherman forecast fair weather with a temperature of about 62 degrees for the sixth world series game tomorrow.

By Gale Talbot
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—(P)—Only the speed and the cunning in the left arm of Harry (The Cat) Breechen stands tonight between the Cardinals and sudden death in the 1946 world series.

Trailing two games to three to the revived Boston Sox in the big autumn play-off, the National League champions must win here tomorrow behind their acrobatic little showpaw star or accept second money.

Ferris 25 Game Winner
Seldom in series history has there been a more dramatic build-up for one of the final, crucial contests. For, opposing Breechen, will be the burly Dave (Boo) Ferris, the 25-game winner, out to throttle the Cards for the second time and bring the Red Sox their first championship since 1918.

Both pitched shutouts in their previous series starts. Breechen, the little fellow with the big screwball, baffled the Sox sluggers in the second game, setting them down with four widely spaced hits to square the play-off at a victory a piece.

Ferris, not to be outdone, came right back in the third game at Boston to handcuff the Red Birds with six blows and again put the Americans leaguers out in front. The meeting of the two shutout artists at Sportsman's park tomorrow is a natural.

Harris a Possibility
Manager Joe Cronin of the Sox, who made the long jump from Boston by train while most of his players flew in last night in a chartered plane, declined to say for certain that Ferris would be his nominee, but most series observers considered the choice a foregone conclusion. The other possibility, Cronin said, was Mickey Harris, the lefthander whom the Cards climbed aboard and beat in the second game.

There appeared no sound reason for the Sox pilot to avoid the issue and not pit his youthful ace against Breechen. Ferris, in only his second year as a leaguer, is as strong as a horse, and almost as large. He will have had three full days of rest, and he will be ready.

Yesterday's sensational four-hit triumph by Joe Dobson, one of Boston's junior varsity flingers, came as manna to Cronin, who had about run out of pitchers after Thursday's holocaust in which the Cards battered six of his hirelings for 20 hits.

Dobson's terrific chore changed the entire picture. For one day, at least, he was a great pitcher.

Possible Seventh Game
But for Dobson's sparkling performance, Cronin probably would have felt it necessary to use a lesser workman than Ferris tomorrow and save him for a possible seventh and deciding struggle on Tuesday. But now he can send his sophomore star out for the kill—match him against the Cards' best bet—and know that he still has Dobson handy in the event Breechen has another shutout in his wiry system.

Bobby Doerr, Boston's second baseman and field leader, who missed yesterday's game because of a throbbing headache, was one of the eight Sox players who made the trip here by train. He said he felt some better, and was hopeful of playing tomorrow.

Although the Sox got along without him nicely yesterday, thanks to Dobson's sterling work and some inspired play by his relief man, Don Gutteridge, they would not like to go into the closing stages of the series without Doerr in their batting order. He hits the long ball.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—(P)—Probable starting lineups for the sixth world series game tomorrow:
ST. LOUIS: Schoendienst, 2b. McBratney, rf. Moore, cf. Williams, lf. Musial, 1b. Dyer, 3b. Kurovski, 3b. Garagiola, c. Walker, lf. Marion, ss. Breechen, p.

Missouri Trappers Lead the Nation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(P)—Missouri trappers and hunters contribute more than any state to the nation's fur supply last year, a report of the fish and wildlife service discloses.

The number of fur bearing animals caught and reported during the year totaled 573,141. This was larger than Illinois' 426,382, Kansas' 436,285 and Arkansas' 198,712 but smaller than Iowa's take of 624,565 animals. Louisiana led the nation with 8,869,609.

Due primarily to the war and lack of ammunition and traps, the 1945 catch was far below that of 834,571 animals in 1941 and 818,165 in 1940.

The fish and wildlife service predicted, however, that more trappers and hunters will take to the field this season because traps and ammunition are more plentiful than at any time since World War Two began.

Opossums led the Missouri catch last year with 261,359 animals followed by 173,347 muskrats, 61,674 skunks; 38,106 raccoons; 26,563 foxes; 11,156 minks; and 936 weasels.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT AND CAPITAL
Sedalia, Mo., Sunday, October 13, 1946

Boo!

Dave Boo Ferris proved real Boo-gie man to Cardinals' hitters when he scored 50th shut-out in World Series history by blanking the Red Birds in third game of baseball classic.

Sedalia Gets Set for M. U. 'B' Team Game

Meets Kansas State Here Friday Night At Liberty Park

Friday night at Liberty Park's gridiron will be a big night for Central Missouri. The University of Missouri's "B" Tiger football team invades the local gridiron to clash with the Kansas State "B" team Wildcats for the first college game in Sedalia in more than 30 years.

The "B" Tigers, winners in their first six starts will have a somewhat weakened line, but are confident they will be capable of handling the boys from the sunflower state of Kansas. During the past few weeks the junior team from Columbia has been pushing their players onto the varsity, due to injuries suffered by the first string aggregation in early season contests.

Their 1946 Record
opened their season against the Naval Air Station at Ottumwa, Iowa, winning by a score of 64 to 23. Two six-pointers in the final stanza of the Arkansas "B" game enabled the Tigers to win by a 20 to 7 score.

Then the "Cubs" split to two teams and went out to beat St. Benedict's college 33 to 6 at St. Joseph, while the other half took on Quincy college at Quincy, Ill., to win 44 to 13 the same Saturday. Then a trip to Hannibal gave them a 41 to 12 victory over the Junior Billikens of the St. Louis university, while their latest victory was Friday night at Joplin when the juniors defeated the junior Sooners from Oklahoma 7 to 0.

Sedalia In Game
Friday night three Sedalians are expected, and no doubt will get to play before former Sedalia admirers. They are Jack and Danny Van Dyne and Fred Hulse. Jr. All three of these boys formerly played on the Smith-Cotton high school football team and are now at the University of Missouri.

John "Hi" Simmons, assistant to Coach Don Faurot will direct the team in Sedalia. Coach Faurot, however, is expected to be on the bench with Simmons during the game, checking over the "youngsters" who furnish replacement material for the varsity.

Reserved seat tickets are now on sale at Joe Chasnov's, Pacific Cafe, Boies Drug Store and Miller's Drug Store. General admission tickets will be placed on sale after the reserved seats are gone. A capacity crowd of 3,000 is expected and if this number of tickets are sold, none will be sold at the game, it was explained Friday night.

'Babe' Zaharias The Texas Open Winner

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 12.—(P)—National amateur champion Mrs. George (Babe) Zaharias of Denver, tied around with Pro. Betty Hicks of Long Beach for the first 27 holes at Colonial Country club today then turned on the pressure for the next six holes to win the Tex's women's open golf championship by a 5-3 score. Mrs. Zaharias who had shot sub-par golf all week in gaining a place in the finals, carded a six over women's par 81 on the morning 18, while Miss Hicks turned in an 84.

On number 24 Miss Hicks was four down, but took the next three holes with two birdies and a par to pull within one hole at 27. Mrs. Zaharias took 28 and 29, they halved 30 and 31 and Babe took the next two holes with a pair of birdies where the match ended.

Sirois Meets Graham This Tuesday Night

Eckert in Montana; Sirois Choses the Roughest of Rough

WRESTLING SCHEDULE
Main Event
Roy "Cowboy" Graham vs. Walter Sirois
Dallas, Tex. Montreal, Canada
2 falls out of 3, 90-minute limit.
Semi-Windup
Wally Dusek vs. Marshall Esteppe
Omaha, Neb. Sturgeon, Mo.
2 falls out of 3, 45-minute limit.
Special Event
Harry Finkelstein vs. Tony Felice
Brooklyn, N.Y. Rome, Italy
1 fall, with a 30-minute time limit.
Place: State Guard Armory.
Time: Tuesday, 8:30 p. m.
Referee: Charles Thomas, Columbia.

Ray Eckert, California, Mo., could not be obtained for Tuesday's wrestling show against Roy "Cowboy" Graham, Dallas, Texas, because he is in Montana, but next best was signed. It is Walter Sirois, Montreal, Canada, who has a rough and ready reputation.

Tuesday night, after Mickey Gold suffered muscle spasms in his neck from the "diamond neck twist" applied by Graham, Sirois, remarked, "I would like a shot at him." However, an effort to get Eckert was made but he has several more dates in the Montana area and won't be back until the "snow flies."

Sirois Wanted a Chance
Sirois learning this, pleaded for his chance. Sirois, beaten by Esteppe a more scientific wrestler, is a rough wrestler and like that kind of competition, so he is being given the opportunity. Graham, said Tuesday night, "I'll use the diamond neck twist on all opponents and show them how to get beat."

The Canadian announced he has some holds that he will apply to Graham and give him some of that "northern medicine" when they get together. Although the injury to Gold was nothing serious, but is painful for several days, it stopped him from wanting anymore in the third fall period.

Well Tuesday will tell whose rougher than the other.

Wally Dusek, a wrestler of Esteppe's liking is coming to meet the "ring postmaster" of Sturgeon in the semi-windup. Dusek is a good mat man and he is expected to give the fans some interesting moments against Esteppe.

Opening the show will be two newcomers in Harry Finkelstein of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Tony Felice of Rome, Italy. Little if anything is known of the two in this section, because they are just making their debut in this area, but advance notices indicate plenty of action when they get together in the "square-ring."

"The Cat" To Real Hometown Welcome

ADA, Okla., Oct. 12.—(P)—This home town of Harry (The Cat) Breechen, the St. Louis Cardinals' star hurler, already is planning ways of welcoming home its conquering hero.

Breechen shut out Boston 3-0 in the second game of the world series and there's no doubt in anyone's mind here he'll duplicate the feat when he huris tomorrow.

Breechen was born near Broken Bow, Okla., but moved here 27 years ago and calls Ada his home. He began his pitching career here when he starred for the Ada American Legion Junior baseball team. During three seasons, 1930-31-32, he hurled 67 games and received credit for winning 65 of them.

The old timers around here remember young Breechen, and will tell you now they knew he'd wind up in the big leagues—and will win that game for St. Louis tomorrow.

win the Tex's women's open golf championship by a 5-3 score. Mrs. Zaharias who had shot sub-par golf all week in gaining a place in the finals, carded a six over women's par 81 on the morning 18, while Miss Hicks turned in an 84.

Short Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

WELL today's the day in St. Louis. Either Eddie Dyer is building himself up a cushion to fall back on by telling about all his injuries, or he is trying to give Boston some idea they have a push-over today in the sixth game of the series. But I still have confidence—maybe I'm wrong—but I think "The Cat" Breechen will come through against his worthy opponent Boo Ferris.

Anyway I expect to be right up there in the press section giving my moral support—I didn't do so good in the first game last week but did in the second. There's going to be a real hard fight on today when those two teams take to the diamond.

I won't feel too bad about my prediction about the Cardinals winning the series—I was wrong in the six game decision—but on the other hand there's a couple of local followers who said the Cards wouldn't win two games.

Well anyway you take it, a lot of people got fooled about the Cards in this series, just as they did about Boston. Boston didn't show up so powerful as many said they would. On the other hand, I do not believe there have been any two more evenly matched clubs—that is in series play—than St. Louis and Boston are this year, for many years.

There is no doubt that Ted Williams will be the "goat" of the 1946 series, because more was expected from him than came. But nevertheless he is a great hitter—he proved that in the regular season play, and he hasn't done bad in the outfield.

PHESANT hunting season in South Dakota has opened up, and Sedalia will be among those on hand to do some shooting. Right here in our own office we have a hunter who says "the trip is going to cost a neat little sum, but "IF" I get a certain number I can put them on the table, save buying meat and chickens and my trip will about come out even.

William "Bill" Burton has figured the trip to a fine point. The meat situation is such "there isn't any", he says, "Chickens are getting high, and figuring it all, I might even come out ahead on the trip. That is if I get the limit which I am permitted to send home."

Burton is going with Bill Lush, Ray Robbins, and Robert "Bob" Fenwick, of Marshall, all well known here. They expect to be gone a week or ten days.

Others who are going from Sedalia are W. G. Whitaker, B. A. "Bunny" Fischer, Dr. F. I. Lawrence, Lawrence Twenter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brosch, Roy Burkholder, Cal Rodgers, Sr., and Gordon Potter.

I understand another group plans to go but will wait until the opening of the season has gotten well underway.

I had a very nice letter from Mrs. Anna Leist, Mercedes, Tex., in reply to the article I had in this column last week. I really appreciated the letter and enjoyed every line.

"Ma" Leist as she is better known to many Sedalians, writes she is still pulling for the Cards to come through.

She sent her regards to all her friends in Sedalia.

COACH Ralph "Stub" Dow's football boys had a weekend off this week. Clinton was scheduled here, but cancelled the game last spring because he said, "they feared a mighty Tiger team year". However, Dow used some judgment by taking several of his key players to Columbia to see Columbia and Hannibal play Friday night.

The following weekend, so they have some idea now of just what they have to go up against.

I hope the trip did the boys good and they benefitted from seeing the teams play.

M. U. Tigers Win 26 To 0 Over K-State

Defending Champion Of The Big Six Make Their 1946 Debut

By Skipper Patrick
MANHATTAN, Kas., Oct. 12.—(P)—The defending champion Missouri Tigers turned on a steam-roller ground attack today to open their Big Six conference campaign with a 26 to 0 victory over a game but out-played Kansas State Wildcat eleven.

An estimated 12,000 fans watched the Missourians execute three scoring drives, two of them in the first period to pile up a 19 to 0 lead at the halfway mark.

71-Yards In Twelve Plays
The Tigers marched 71-yards in twelve plays for their first touchdown following the opening kickoff. Half back Bob West made the sixpointer on a chash over right tackle from the two-yard line. Big Jim Keneris kicked the point from placement, but Missouri was penalized 15-yards for holding and the second attempt was short.

The third and fourth points Missouri needed today because Kansas State was never able to make a scoring threat, but the Tigers stormed back five minutes later for their second touchdown of the period, quarterback Harold Entsminger sneaking six-yards for the counter after a 50-yard drive. Keneris added the point from placement.

Reserve wingback Howard Bonnett got the third Missouri touchdown in the second quarter, climaxing another 71-yard march with a slice through tackle and guard from the three.

Keneris missed the attempted placement.

Stout Defense By K-State

Kansas State threw up a stout defense in the second half and after holding the Missourians scoreless, yielded a fourth touchdown in the last quarter. Again the Tigers had to make it the hard way's halfback Bob Teel smashing over from the two-yard line. This drive carried 51-yards. Bill Day kicked the point from placement to end the scoring.

Two Million to Hunt Ducks This Season

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Two million sportsmen are expected to hunt wild ducks and geese this year, according to Albert M. Day, director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service. Day's estimate was based on records of duck stamp sales last year and the current rising trend of hunting license sales throughout the nation.

All previous records were broken in 1945 when 7,725,505 ducks were purchased the $1 federal license to hunt migratory waterfowl. This was an increase of 238,476 over the 1944-45 season, when 1,487,029 were sold. Total duck stamp sales in Missouri last year was 41,354. State conservation officials expect this figure to be exceeded during the coming season.

The open season on ducks in Missouri runs from Oct. 26 to December 9.

In 1934, first year the federal license was required, 635,000 were issued, Day recalled. "In 1945, only 11 years later, nearly three times as many licensed hunters were afield. Despite restrictions," the U. S. wildlife chief declared, "the wild ducks and geese of this continent may face the most devastating hunting season on record."

Half Million See C. C. Exhibitions

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—The longest and biggest season of fairs and exhibits in the conservation commission records was concluded this week. H. W. Clover, chief of the commission's information division, said an estimated half-million people had seen the displays.

Featured by the comprehensive display at the state fair, the season included also large displays at district fairs in Springfield, Bethany, and Cape Girardeau. In addition, the commission maintained exhibits at 19 other county fairs and festivals in every part of the state.

The displays were designed to meet the increased interest in wildlife and recreational hunting and fishing, and live fish and mammals were shown in many of them. Forestry management was emphasized in those state areas where timber is a major product.

John G. Crawford, Broadway and Carr avenue, is a member of the University of Missouri's Tigers football squad. He is expected to play on the local gridiron with the "B" team when the Tigers meet Kansas State Wildcats "B" squad. His brother Danny Van Dyne, also a student at the University, is a member of the squad and will see action in the game. Both recently returned to school after service. Mighty Army Doubles The Predators

Invaded The West For The First Time To Beat Michigan

By Frank Keneson

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 12.—(P)—Army's mighty football team, invading the west for the first time in 12 years, ran into a pack of trouble against Michigan here today but powered 76 yards for a fourth period touchdown to edge the Wolverines 20 to 13. It was the second straight victory for the Cadets since they lost to Navy in their last game of 1942.

Endless Victory Parade

Army's seemingly endless victory parade seemed destined to fall before a determined Michigan eleven that led at one time, 7 to 0, and after dropping back again pulled into a 13-all tie with an 82-yard touchdown march the first time the Wolverines got the ball in the second half.

But Army's touchdown twins, halfback Glenn Davis and fullback Felix (Doc) Blanchard, powered the Cadets to their winning touchdown with 11 minutes of playing time remaining.

Michigan, battling all the way, connected twice in a last minute desperation air attack and pushed to the Army 10-yard line before a pair of holding penalties smashed the Wolverines' threat to tie it up again.

Blanchard Misses Few Minutes

Davis, who played every second of the game and Blanchard, who missed only a few minutes, gave the packed house of 85,938 fans a spectacular show but it was Davis' slingshot arm and pedalling legs that hogged the individual glory.

Davis, combining his terrific speed with an amazing change of pace, ran 58 yards for Army's first score in the opening stanza and flipped a 31-yard pass to Bob Folsom for the score that put Army on top, 13 to 7, just 29 seconds before half time.

Either Davis or Blanchard handled the ball on all but one play as the West Pointers plowed 76 yards on 11 plays at the outset of the final period for their all-important touchdown. Blanchard skidded off Michigan's right end from the seven-yard line for the big score, carrying Michigan halfback Paul White with him to roll into the end zone.

The statistics show how Army's running game matched by the determined Wolverines, won through the air.

Each team made a dozen first downs and Army's 152 yards rushing proved just 11 more than Michigan had on the ground.

But the Cadets completed 12 of 17 for 95 yards.

Davis completed seven straight passes without a miss for 153 yards and peeled off 105 more on the ground.

Cardinals' Injury List Has Grown

Schoendienst, Moore, Slaughter, Kurowski, Marion, Pollet On It

By Joe Reichler
ENROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—(P)—It is highly improbable that any team ever went into the end of a world series with as many crippling injuries as the St. Louis Cardinals have today as they prepare to meet the Boston Red Sox in the sixth and what may be the final game of the current classic.

The Semi-Invalid List

At least six regular members of the team—Enos (Country) Slaughter, Terry Moore, Howie Pollet, Marty Marion, Al Schoendienst and Whitey Kurowski—are on the semi-invalid list.

Probably the most serious injury is the one suffered by Slaughter, the righthander, who has been finding the range of late with his booming bat. Slaughter was forced to retire from yesterday's game when hit on the right elbow by an errant throw from Joe Dobson, and both he and Manager Eddie Dyer were pessimistic about his return to the lineup tomorrow.

Slaughter's injury is similar to the one suffered by Ted Williams of the Red Sox shortly before the series.

"This is the first time I have been out of the lineup for a single inning this season," moaned Slaughter. "I can't lift my right arm at all right now, but unless it is broken, I'll try to be in there tomorrow."

X-Ray Examinations

An X-ray examination was planned in St. Louis. Dyer said that if Slaughter was not in shape to play tomorrow he would start either Erv Dusak or Dick Sisler in left field, depending on whether the opposition used a righthander or southpaw, and switch Harry Walker to Slaughter's position in right.

"Dusak, a right handed batter, hits well against lefties and will play if Mickey Harris starts for the Red Sox," said Dyer.

The loss of Slaughter might be fatal to the Cards. In addition to his superior fielding and tremendous throwing arm, Country leads all the series hitters with 12 total bases and is the only Cardinal to hit a home run.

It is fairly certain that Pollet, who tried courageously to stem the Boston bats despite an extremely painful back ailment in yesterday's 6-3 defeat, will not throw another ball in this series. A source who should know but refused to be identified, said that "unless Pollet gives his back a six-months rest, he may never pitch again."

Why So Glum, Fella? No Movies?

We're sorry, son, that we can't furnish your dad with new tires so he would be able to drive you and the rest of the family to some neighboring town for a movie outing—but, you see, our tire shipments are still small and far-spaced, and we just can't get enough to take care of everyone. Let's hope the movie situation is settled soon and you can see your favorite movie stars right here at home.

We are receiving our quota of SEIBERLING TIRES

but only a trickle compared to the need.

We'll be glad to take your order and advise you when your turn comes up.

The American People are certainly deserving of praise for their unending patience. Every place we turn for an essential need such as tires, meat, shortening, batteries, building materials, etc., we find a bottleneck... and in this great land of plenty! Perhaps, the greatest need of our country today is for more statesmen and fewer politicians... more true servants of the people they represent.

Ancestors Date Back 500,000 Years to Giants

By Alton L. Blakeslee
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Man's ancestors date back 500,000 years to giants—hulking, beetle-browed brutes subject to king-size toothaches—and man's evolution apparently ran just opposite to that of animals.

This is the story told mutely by the bones and teeth of the three earliest-known primitive humans yet discovered, in a priceless find made by Dr. G. H. R. Von Koenigswald, renowned young Dutch paleontologist, who recently reached this country after years in the Orient.

The fossils of these giant men—two from Java and one from China—are a half million years old, possibly 200,000 years older than any human remains previously found.

Huge Teeth Are Clue
The huge teeth of the giants are the clue, Dr. Von Koenigswald said, that in evolution man became smaller, rather than growing from small to larger specimens as modern animals did. The giants had huge jaws and teeth but small brain capacity. As the size of jaws and teeth decreased and brain capacity increased, man developed human faculties—particularly those of speech and ability to make implements which gave him superiority over animals.

Dr. Von Koenigswald, a prisoner of war in Java for 30 months, made his discoveries before the war in river gravel beds of central Java and in Chinese drug stores. The teeth of the China giant came from the drug stores, where they were sold medicinally as "dragon's teeth."

Large All Over
Pending further study, Dr. Von Koenigswald will not hazard guesses about the exact size or appearance of the giant men. But, he said, judging from the jawbone, they were "large all over." The oldest Java giant, named Meganthropus, was so large that the previous oldest-known men, Pithecanthropus Erectus, Peñin Man and Heidelberg Man, "were elegant and dwarfish in comparison," he said. The jaw of the Java Meganthropus is of the size of a large gorilla jaw, and that of the China giant, named Gigantopithecus, was still larger than Meganthropus.

Medieval suits of armor indicate that modern man is larger than the knights of centuries ago, but their smaller size probably is due to diet and other conditions, Dr. Von Koenigswald said. Modern man now is growing larger due to better diet.

Hidden In Java
The remains of the giant men and a treasure of other fossils, hailed as the world's outstanding and most valuable collection of fossil man, just arrived at the American Museum of Natural History, after being hidden under the noses of the Japanese in Java during the war.

Dr. Von Koenigswald fought in the Netherlands East Indies army on Java when the Japanese invaded it in 1942, was clapped into a prisoner of war camp, and was beaten four times by his captors. Just before hostilities started, he entrusted some of the priceless fossils to neutral Swiss and Swedish friends. Others he simply placed among other collections in his office at Bandoeng, and the valuable ones were not detected. The Japanese were more intent on shipping out oil and other war supplies.

Emperor's Birthday Gift
After his release, Dr. Von Koenigswald recovered all the items except one 100,000-year-old Neanderthal skull—which the Japanese sent to their emperor as a birthday present in 1942.

In 1937, Dr. Von Koenigswald discovered in Java a skull of Pithecanthropus Erectus No. II, which confirmed the belief that this apeman of 300,000 years ago was human.
